FIREMEN HAVE BIG TIME IN PHOEBUS

York, Pennsylvania, Company is Given Privilege of Town.

MAYOR WEAVER ACCEPTS THE "KEY" FOR VISITORS

Splendid Banquet is Served in the Engine House, When Houston, Stangen, Cumming, Fraley and Kearney Welcome the Keystone State Laddies—Take Sight-seeing Trip.

With the ringing of the general alarm, the tooting of the whistles from the several factories and the spontaneous applause of the citizens lined along the main thoroughfares, the people of Phoebus yesterday afternoon gave the members of the Vigilance Steam Fire Engine Company, No. 1, of York, Pa., a royal welcome to the town.

The Pennsylvania firemen arrived at Old Point at 12:30 o'clock on the Hampton Roads steamer, having spent Wednesday and Thursday in Portsmouth. Reaching Old Point, the visitors found a large number of the Phoebus firemen, in full uniform, waiting their arrival and as the steamer tied up at the wharf the Phoebus laddies lined up to receive the visiting Keystone State firemen as they embarked from the vessel. After the visitors had landed on the wharf they were placed aboard special trolley cars and brought to Mill Creek bridge, where the entire equipment of the Phoebus department was waiting.

Here a parade was formed and the visitors were marched up Mellen street to Hope and thence to the fire department house, where the committee on arrangements had gotten together a tempting banquet. The tables were spread on the lower floor of the engine house, which had been decorated in compliment to the visiting firemen.

Mayor Extends Welcome. Arriving at the entrance to the engine house the parade disbanded, while the Vigilance firemen lined up in front of the place and received the "key" to Phoebus from the hands of Mayor L. P. Furness. A large wooden key, painted in silver, and bearing the inscriptions, "Phoebus Firemen to the Vigilance Steam Fire Engine Company, of York, Pa." and "Good Luck." This key, the mayor said, gave the visitors the freedom of the town and they could use it in unlocking anything they wanted.

Major Jacob Weaver, of York, who accompanied the firemen on the trip, accepted the "key" from Mayor Furness and informed the Phoebus firemen that the York laddies were already having a big time and intended to enjoy every minute of their stay in this section.

The Banquet. After taking charge of the "key," Foreman Frank A. Kearney, who was the master of ceremonies, told the visiting laddies that the time had

Other Speeches. When the visitors had satisfied the inner man, Chairman Kearney rapped for order and ringing speeches of welcome to the Pennsylvania firemen were delivered by Charles W. Stanglen, of Phoebus; Hon. Harry R. Houston, of Hampton; Town Attorney C. Vernon Spratley, of Phoebus; "Jack" Fraley, of Newport News, president of the Virginia Firemen's Association, and George W. Cumming, of Portsmouth, secretary of the Virginia association. Mayor Weaver responded to the several talks.

On Sight-seeing Trip. The visitors were then taken on a sight-seeing trip, which included a visit to the National Soldiers' Home, the Hampton Normal school and Fort Monroe.

At 5 o'clock the visitors were returned to the engine house, where refreshments were again served them and at 6 o'clock the Pennsylvania firemen left for Old Point, where they boarded the Old Bay Line steamer for Baltimore. Today will be spent in the Monumental City and tonight the visitors will start on the journey back to York.

Loud in Words of Praise.

The York Vigilance Steam Fire Engine Company, No. 1, had 103 uniformed men, 15 un-uniformed men, and a band of fifteen pieces with them. The visitors were jolly and they declared that they had spent an afternoon that would linger long with them, when they started out from Old Point last night. Mayor Weaver said that he had never been more cordially received in any town than the reception his men got in Phoebus and he was loud in his words of praise for the Phoebus department.

The committee from the Phoebus department consisted of William T. Davis, chairman; George M. Lancer, chief; John Ferber, assistant chief; Frank A. Kearney, foreman; Harry A. Simkins, first assistant foreman; James Boyhan, second assistant foreman; William Crawford, secretary, and L. L. Johnson, Bushrod Giddings, M. P. Jackson, E. M. Tannis, R. E. Wilson, Harry Long, J. J. Burns and Charles W. Stanglen.

Chief Walker, of the Portsmouth, Va., department; Secretary George Cumming, of the Virginia association, accompanied the visitors from Portsmouth to Phoebus, while President Fraley, of the Virginia Association, came down from Newport News to assist the Phoebus laddies in entertaining and welcoming the Pennsylvania firemen.

Mr. Cheyne Returns. C. Ethelbert Cheyne, the photographer, returned yesterday from Richmond, where he attended the annual convention of the Photographers' Association of Virginia and North Carolina. Mr. Cheyne declared that the convention this year was the best in the history of the organization and that the exhibition of the work brought out many new ideas for the members of the association.

NEWSOME MUST ANSWER

Recent Bay Shore Raid Involves Negro Attorney.

WOMAN IS SENTENCED

Rosa Macklin is Found Guilty of Selling Liquor at the Colored Resort and Given Eight Months in Jail—Negro Lawyer Must Give Bond.

Rosa Macklin, proprietress of a restaurant at Bay Shore, the negro resort, near Buckroe Beach, was found guilty of selling liquor without a license last night by Magistrate Martin Kenny, who imposed a fine of $100; sentenced her to spend six months in the county jail and then required her to give a bond of $1,000 for her good behavior during the coming year. And the end is not yet. Rosa Macklin is already under bonds amounting to $1,200 for convictions on similar charges, and Magistrate Kenny informed the woman that she will have to pay the amount of the bonds to the State of Virginia, thus making the complete sentence read: Forfeiture of $1,200 bonds; six months in the county jail; pay a fine of $100, and give another bond of $1,000. Then the magistrate further looked up the law and decided that as the bonds had been forfeited that another two months' sentence would be necessary, increasing the jail penalty to eight months.

Appeal is Noted. F. S. Collier, who represented the woman as counsel, noted an appeal to the Circuit Court and H. M. Kimbly became the bondsman for the convicted woman.

Christopher Ham, the clerk in Rosa's restaurant, got six months in jail, a fine of $100 and must give a bond of $1,000, as well as forfeit a bond of $500 and severe two additional months for this forfeiture, for the same offense. Christopher was unable to secure a bondsman and was locked up in the county jail, although Mr. Collier noted an appeal in his case to the Circuit Court.

Grand Jury to Investigate. At the conclusion of the investigation into the cases last night, Magistrate Kenny said he will require a $500 bond from J. Thomas Newsome, a colored attorney of Newport News; George W. Fields, a colored attorney of Hampton; Eddie Boyd and J. T. Arrington, the negro constables at Bay Shore, for their appearance before the next grand jury to unravel the charges of attempted bribery brought in the case against Rosa Macklin.

Magistrate Kenny declared that he intends to get at the bottom of the charges and that Newsome must explain why he took the $50 from Rosa Macklin and then gave her his personal check, while Fields, Arrington and Boyd will tell the grand jury of the alleged bribery attempt.

The team will be the Crew of the Mary Jane from Norfolk and the games will be played on New Park diamond on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons of next week.

The Norfolk team has been playing fast ball during the closing weeks of the Virginia League season and Manager Win Clarke is desirous of taking all of the games from the Crabbers, while Manager McAllister feels confident of taking two out of the three from the Norfolk boys.

This afternoon the Crabbers and the North Enders from Newport News will meet on New Park diamond for the last time this season and it is expected that a record-breaking crowd will be out to see the contest.
